1. Jobs and housing projections for years 2020 and 2030 are based on SCAG growth forecast projections for the Connect SoCal, the 2020 RTP/SCS
2. Historical jobs estimates are based on U.S. Census Bureau's LEHD Origin-Destination Employment Statistics Data (LODES version 7.3) Workplace Area Characteristics (WAC) Primary Jobs data files for years 2010 and 2015.
3. Historical housing unit estimates are based on U.S. Census Bureau's 2008-2012 American Community Survey 5-Year Estimates and 2013-2017 American Community Survey 5-Year Estimates.

NOTE:

If IOD is 0, then the region is completely balanced because each zone will be exactly same as a regional figure across the region. If IOD is 1, then the region is completely imbalanced. An IOD indicates that the percentage of regional jobs would have to change their locations in order to have each zone equal the overall housing distribution. For example, if IOD is 0.3, then 30 percent of regional jobs would need to move in order for the region's jobs to have the same distribution as the region's housing.

TECHNICAL DOCUMENTATION FOR STAFF-RECOMMENDED FINAL RHNA METHODOLOGY

Connect SoCal Growth Forecast

- SCAG projects future growth in population, households, and employment at the regional, county, jurisdictional, and sub-jurisdictional levels to 2045.
- The purpose of the forecast is to provide a technically robust view of the most likely future growth pattern in the region given existing policy.
- County and regional forecasts are based on established demographic and economic forecasting inputs and assumptions including births, deaths, migration, immigration, and the SCAG region's share of forecasted national job growth, which are described in detail in the Connect SoCal 2020 RTP/SCS Demographics and Growth Forecast Technical Report.
- Jurisdictional and sub-jurisdictional forecasts rely on previous forecasts, US Census data, estimates from the state Department of Finance and Economic Development Department, jurisdictions' general plans, County assessor parcel databases, and other sources.
- A key step in any jurisdictional and sub-jurisdictional forecasting is local and subregional input and review, which captures several important elements such as expected future developments and environmental constraints which may not be captured in these data sources. At SCAG, this is referred to as the Bottom-Up Local Input and Envisioning Process ("local input" for short) and takes extra importance in order to ensure that localities are well-versed in regional planning concerns.
- This approach ensures the forecast reflects both the most accurate economic, demographic, and other high-level assumptions as well as a data-driven and quality-checked integration of local, parcel-level information.
- Including employment growth forecasts alongside population and household forecasts also ensures an accurate and realistic balance between future employment, population, and households. In fact, by 2045 SCAG's integrated growth forecast projects a 27 percent increase in households but just a 19 percent increase in population.
- SCAG's integrated growth forecast as an important input into several processes including RHNA and the Regional Transportation Plan/Sustainable Communities Strategy (or RTP/SCS, referred to as "Connect SoCal" for 2020) which, unlike RHNA, requires forecasts to be developed for a longer time horizon and at a variety of spatial scales from neighborhood to region. Connect SoCal also involves a wide range of performance measures which rely on as accurate as possible a forecast of future outcomes.

How does the growth forecast relate to RHNA?

- SCAG's forecast projects growth in households, which are closely related to but not identical to housing units, which are the primary objective of the RHNA process. The main difference between households and housing units is a vacancy rate.

- The focus of SCAG's forecast is the most likely future scenario given observed trends, expert analysis, and existing policy. As such, it is most closely related to projected housing need.
- SCAG's forecast does not directly involve analysis of major policy changes or socioeconomic indicators such as household overcrowding and cost-burden; however, these factors may be included as part of the RHNA process.
- SCAG's RHNA allocation methodology principally relies upon the forecast of household growth from 2021-2029 to arrive at projected housing unit need.

Job Access Measure Technical Details

CONCEPTUAL OVERVIEW

The concept behind job accessibility is to further the Statewide housing objective and SCAG's Connect SoCal objective of improving the region-wide relationship between jobs and housing.

- The more commonly-used ratio of jobs to housing at the jurisdictional-level were considered, but ultimately determined to be insufficient to promote this improved region-wide relationship.
- The urban geography of the SCAG region includes jurisdictions of wide-ranging sizes, idiosyncratic boundaries, and mixes of land use. As such, the mere fact that a jurisdiction has more jobs than housing units, or more housing units than jobs, does not necessarily form a strong basis from which to allocate housing unit targets. Many commuters cross jurisdictional and even county boundaries for work commutes, but may in fact be fairly close to their workplaces.
- Secondly, while the SCAG region is considered a single region for planning purposes, it is not reasonable for a daily commute to extend from one end of the region to another. It is not likely that 100 percent of the region's jobs can be reached from any location. For example, jobs in Redlands are not especially relevant to job accessibility in Thousand Oaks.
- An improved indicator of accessibility would measure how many jobs can be accessed from each individual neighborhood in the SCAG region within a reasonable amount of time during peak commute hours.
- Thus, this job accessibility measure can be expressed as the percentage of the region's employment which can be reasonably accessed from each location in the region.
- As such, more central or core locations in the region would be more suitable to accessing a variety of workplaces than those on the periphery or fringe of the region.
- A 30-minute drive-time commute is used for this measure:
 - o Despite increasing investments in transit and alternatives, single-occupant vehicles are still expected to be the dominant commute mode in the region for the foreseeable future.
 - o Transit accessibility is accounted for separately in the RHNA methodology.
 - o 30 minutes is roughly equivalent to the average one-way commute in the region today, thus this threshold can be thought of as reflecting the share of jobs accessible in a below-average commute time from any given place in the region.
 - o The 30-minute auto commute standard was developed by SCAG and in use since the 1998 RTP (Community Link 21!) and was recognized by the FHWA/FTA as being one of the premier environmental justice analyses in the nation (see https://www.fhwa.dot.gov/environment/environmental_justice/case_studies/case4.cfm).
- This measure uses the location of jobs in 2045, reached on the 2045 transportation network:
 - o 2045 is the horizon year for Connect SoCal, SCAG's 2020 RTP/SCS. Thus, a complete forecast of neighborhood-level job location, the future transportation network, and travel modeling capability is available for 2045.
 - o While the 6th cycle RHNA period ends in 2029, its objective is to promote housing development which will be long-lasting.

- While job accessibility is evaluated at each location in the region, the RHNA process requires allocating a total housing need number to each jurisdiction. Job accessibility may not be uniform in all parts of each jurisdiction, especially larger ones, thus a summary measure (median) is used.
- In addition, housing unit need cannot be assigned simply on the basis of job access without considering the size of a jurisdiction in some way. To ensure that the measure accounts for the potential beneficiaries of job access, it is multiplied by the jurisdiction's 2045 population.

KEY POINTS

- Job accessibility is different from job centers. While Connect SoCal also places an emphasis on job centers which are local peaks of especially dense employment, jobs are located throughout the SCAG region. This methodology includes all regional jobs, not just those located in centers.
- In past RHNA cycles, and in other data inputs for this cycle's RHNA methodology, SCAG has emphasized the use of jurisdiction-level measures for determining housing need in that same jurisdiction. However, given the nature of job accessibility described above, its accurate measurement relies on an indicator which includes jobs in other places.
- Thus, SCAG's measure of job accessibility for the 6th cycle of RHNA is not a measure of how many jobs are in a jurisdiction. Rather, it's a measure of how many jobs a resident can reasonably get to from a jurisdiction.

STEPS IN DEVELOPING THE MEASURE

- 1.) The transportation network and the transportation analysis zone (TAZ)-level location of employment for SCAG's Connect SoCal 2020 RTP/SCS final growth vision are developed for 2045.
- 2.) SCAG's Regional Travel Demand Model is used to generate TAZ-to-TAZ network-based travel times in minutes by auto (single-occupancy passenger vehicles) for AM peak hours (6 AM to 9 AM) using Tier-2 TAZs.
- 3.) For each origin TAZ, identify destination TAZs where AM travel times by single-occupancy vehicles are less than or equal to 30 minutes.
- 4.) For each origin TAZ, add all jobs within the accessible destination TAZs and divide by the regional employment total (see attached TAZ-level map).
- 5.) For each jurisdiction, select all TAZs whose centroids lie within jurisdictional boundaries.
- 6.) For each jurisdiction, identify the median value for the share of regional jobs accessible for TAZs selected in Step 5 ("MED_JOBACC"). See attached jurisdiction-level map.
- 7.) For each jurisdiction, multiply the value from Step 6 by the jurisdiction's 2045 Connect SoCal population and sum this value for the region.
- 8.) For each jurisdiction, calculate its share of the regional sum derived in Step 7. This is the share of the jurisdiction's regional job access ("SHR_JOBACC").
- 9.) For each jurisdiction, multiply its share of regional job access ("SHR_JOBACC") by the number of housing units to be allocated on the basis of job accessibility to determine a jurisdiction's need based on job access ("EX_JOB"NEED")

ADDITIONAL TECHNICAL NOTES

- Staff evaluated several alternatives for converting TAZ-level measures to the jurisdictional-level measure, including using the highest and average regional accessibility percentage in a jurisdiction as well as weighting by population size, household size, and land area prior to aggregating. However, given the range in jurisdictional size, across all 197 jurisdictions, the median was determined to be the most reflective of the "typical" level of access experienced in a jurisdiction. While this measure performs well across all jurisdictions, any changes to the transportation network or location of employment will be most visible in the job access measure for the largest or most dispersed jurisdictions, i.e. unincorporated county areas and the City of Los Angeles.
- Variable names in quotations and parentheses correspond to column headers in SCAG's RHNA calculator.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION ON JOB ACCESSIBILITY MEASURE

- Job accessibility is measured using SCAG's Travel Demand model, employment in 2045, and the Transportation Analysis Zone (TAZ) level of geography.
- For each of the region's 11,259 TAZs, we calculate the % of the region's jobs which can be accessed by auto in 30mins during peak AM commute hours in 2045.
- A regional map of this can be found following this description
- Since this provides a job access measure for each TAZ while RHNA necessitates a jurisdiction-level measure, we use the median value across each juris' TAZs.
- The table below summarizes the varying level of job access experienced across each jurisdiction's TAZs
- A visualization of a similar measure in the ABAG/MTC region can be found at <http://travel-housing.mtcanalytics.org/>

Description of columns:

Number of TAZs	Number of TAZs in each jurisdiction. Since some TAZ boundaries do not nest within jurisdictional boundaries, for this measure, a TAZ was considered to be within the a jurisdiction if its centroid (center point) lied within the jurisdiction's boundary using the most recent data.
Minimum	Lowest level of job access experienced by any TAZ in the jurisdiction.
Average (Mean)	Average level of job access experienced by any TAZ in the jurisdiction.
Median*	The median, or middle level of job access experienced by any TAZ in the jurisdiction. Value used in RHNA calculations.
Maximum	Highest level of job access experienced by any TAZ in the jurisdiction.
Standard Deviation	Statistical measure of how much job access varies across the jurisdiction's TAZs. A lower number indicates more homogenous job access across a jurisdiction's TAZs. Value also impacted by the number of TAZs in a jurisdiction.

Transit Access Measure Technical Details

1.) Definition/background on High-Quality Transit Corridors (HQTCs) and major transit stops

California statute defines major transit stop and high quality transit corridor as follows.

CA Pub. Res. Code § 21155(b)

For purposes of this chapter, a transit priority project shall (1) contain at least 50 percent residential use, based on total building square footage and, if the project contains between 26 percent and 50 percent nonresidential uses, a floor area ratio of not less than 0.75; (2) provide a minimum net density of at least 20 dwelling units per acre; and (3) be within one-half mile of a major transit stop or high-quality transit corridor included in a regional transportation plan. A major transit stop is as defined in Section 21064.3, except that, for purposes of this section, it also includes major transit stops that are included in the applicable regional transportation plan. For purposes of this section, a high-quality transit corridor means a corridor with fixed route bus service with service intervals no longer than 15 minutes during peak commute hours. A project shall be considered to be within one-half mile of a major transit stop or high-quality transit corridor if all parcels within the project have no more than 25 percent of their area farther than one-half mile from the stop or corridor and if not more than 10 percent of the residential units or 100 units, whichever is less, in the project are farther than one-half mile from the stop or corridor.

(Note: For development of the high quality transit corridors in the SCAG region, please see a separate attachment in this Data Appendix)

CA Pub. Res. Code § 21064.3

"Major transit stop" means a site containing an existing rail or bus rapid transit station, a ferry terminal served by either a bus or rail transit service, or the intersection of two or more major bus routes with a frequency of service interval of 15 minutes or less during the morning and afternoon peak commute periods.

2.) Defining High-Quality Transit Areas (HQTAs) for the Sustainable Communities Strategy (SCS) and RHNA for 2016 and 2045

For planning and SCS purposes, SCAG identifies a "high quality transit area" as generally a walkable transit village or corridor that is within one-half mile of a major transit stop or HQTC as defined in statute. SCAG's technical methodology for identifying HQTCs and major transit stops is based on input from the Regional Transit Technical Advisory Committee (RTTAC), as well as consultation with local agencies, other large MPOs in California, and the Governor's Office of Planning and Research.

SCAG updates its inventory of existing major transit stops and HQTCs with the adoption of a new Regional Transportation Plan (RTP) and SCS, once every four years. Data for the existing ("base year") condition for the RTP/SCS are typically obtained several years before plan adoption. The base year transit network for Connect SoCal, the 2020 RTP/SCS, is based primarily on data for 2016. This inventory of existing major transit stops and HQTCs is therefore only a snapshot in time as of 2016, and does not reflect the existing levels of transit service for any other timeframe.

Planned HQTCs and major transit stops are future improvements that are expected to be implemented by transit agencies by the RTP/SCS horizon year of 2045. These are assumed by definition to meet the statutory requirements of an HQTC or major transit stop. SCAG updates its inventory of planned major transit stops and HQTCs with the adoption of a new RTP/SCS, once every four years. However, transit planning studies may be completed by transit agencies on a more frequent basis than the RTP/SCS is updated by SCAG and as such it is understood that planned transit projects are subject to further project-specific evaluation, but that is the nature of our long range planning process. Local jurisdictions should consult with the appropriate transit provider(s) to obtain the latest information on planned transit routes, stop locations, and service intervals/frequencies before making determinations regarding CEQA exemption or streamlining.

SCAG-defined HQTAs diverge from HQTCs in one key manner following discussions at SCAG’s Technical Working Group (TWG): Freeway transit corridors with no bus stops on the freeway alignment do not have a directly associated HQTAs, as the areas surrounding these corridors are not genuinely transit accessible in the same manner. However, the area around stations/stops would provide transit accessibility to the nearby area and are be included in this calculation.

3.) Adapting SCS-defined 2045 HQTAs for use in the RHNA process

The RHNA process, as defined in Government Code 65584 et seq., specifies that a council of government’s regional housing needs allocation plan shall further several objectives. While transit accessibility is not explicitly referenced, promoting housing development on the basis of HQTAs in a jurisdiction is consistent with objectives related to infill development and intraregional jobs-housing relationships.

The use of HQTAs is an effort to better align transportation and housing planning. The statutory basis underlying the delineations of high-quality transit as well as the extensive review process undertaken for the SCS provide a strong, established basis for additional use in housing planning.

The use of HQTAs for allocating housing needs also requires an additional step beyond the delineation of HQTAs. While an HQTAs covers a certain share of a city’s area, this is not necessarily reflective of urbanized land area, developable land area, or a measure otherwise related to future housing accommodation.

As such, 2045 forecasted residential population from SCAG’s 2020 RTP/SCS which lies within the boundaries of an HQTAs is used as the basis for developing RHNA allocations based on HQTAs and is described below:

Step 1: Develop 2045 HQTAs polygon boundary

Step 2: Determine residential population at the small (sub-jurisdictional) level using 2045 population at the Scenario Planning Zone (SPZ) spatial scale

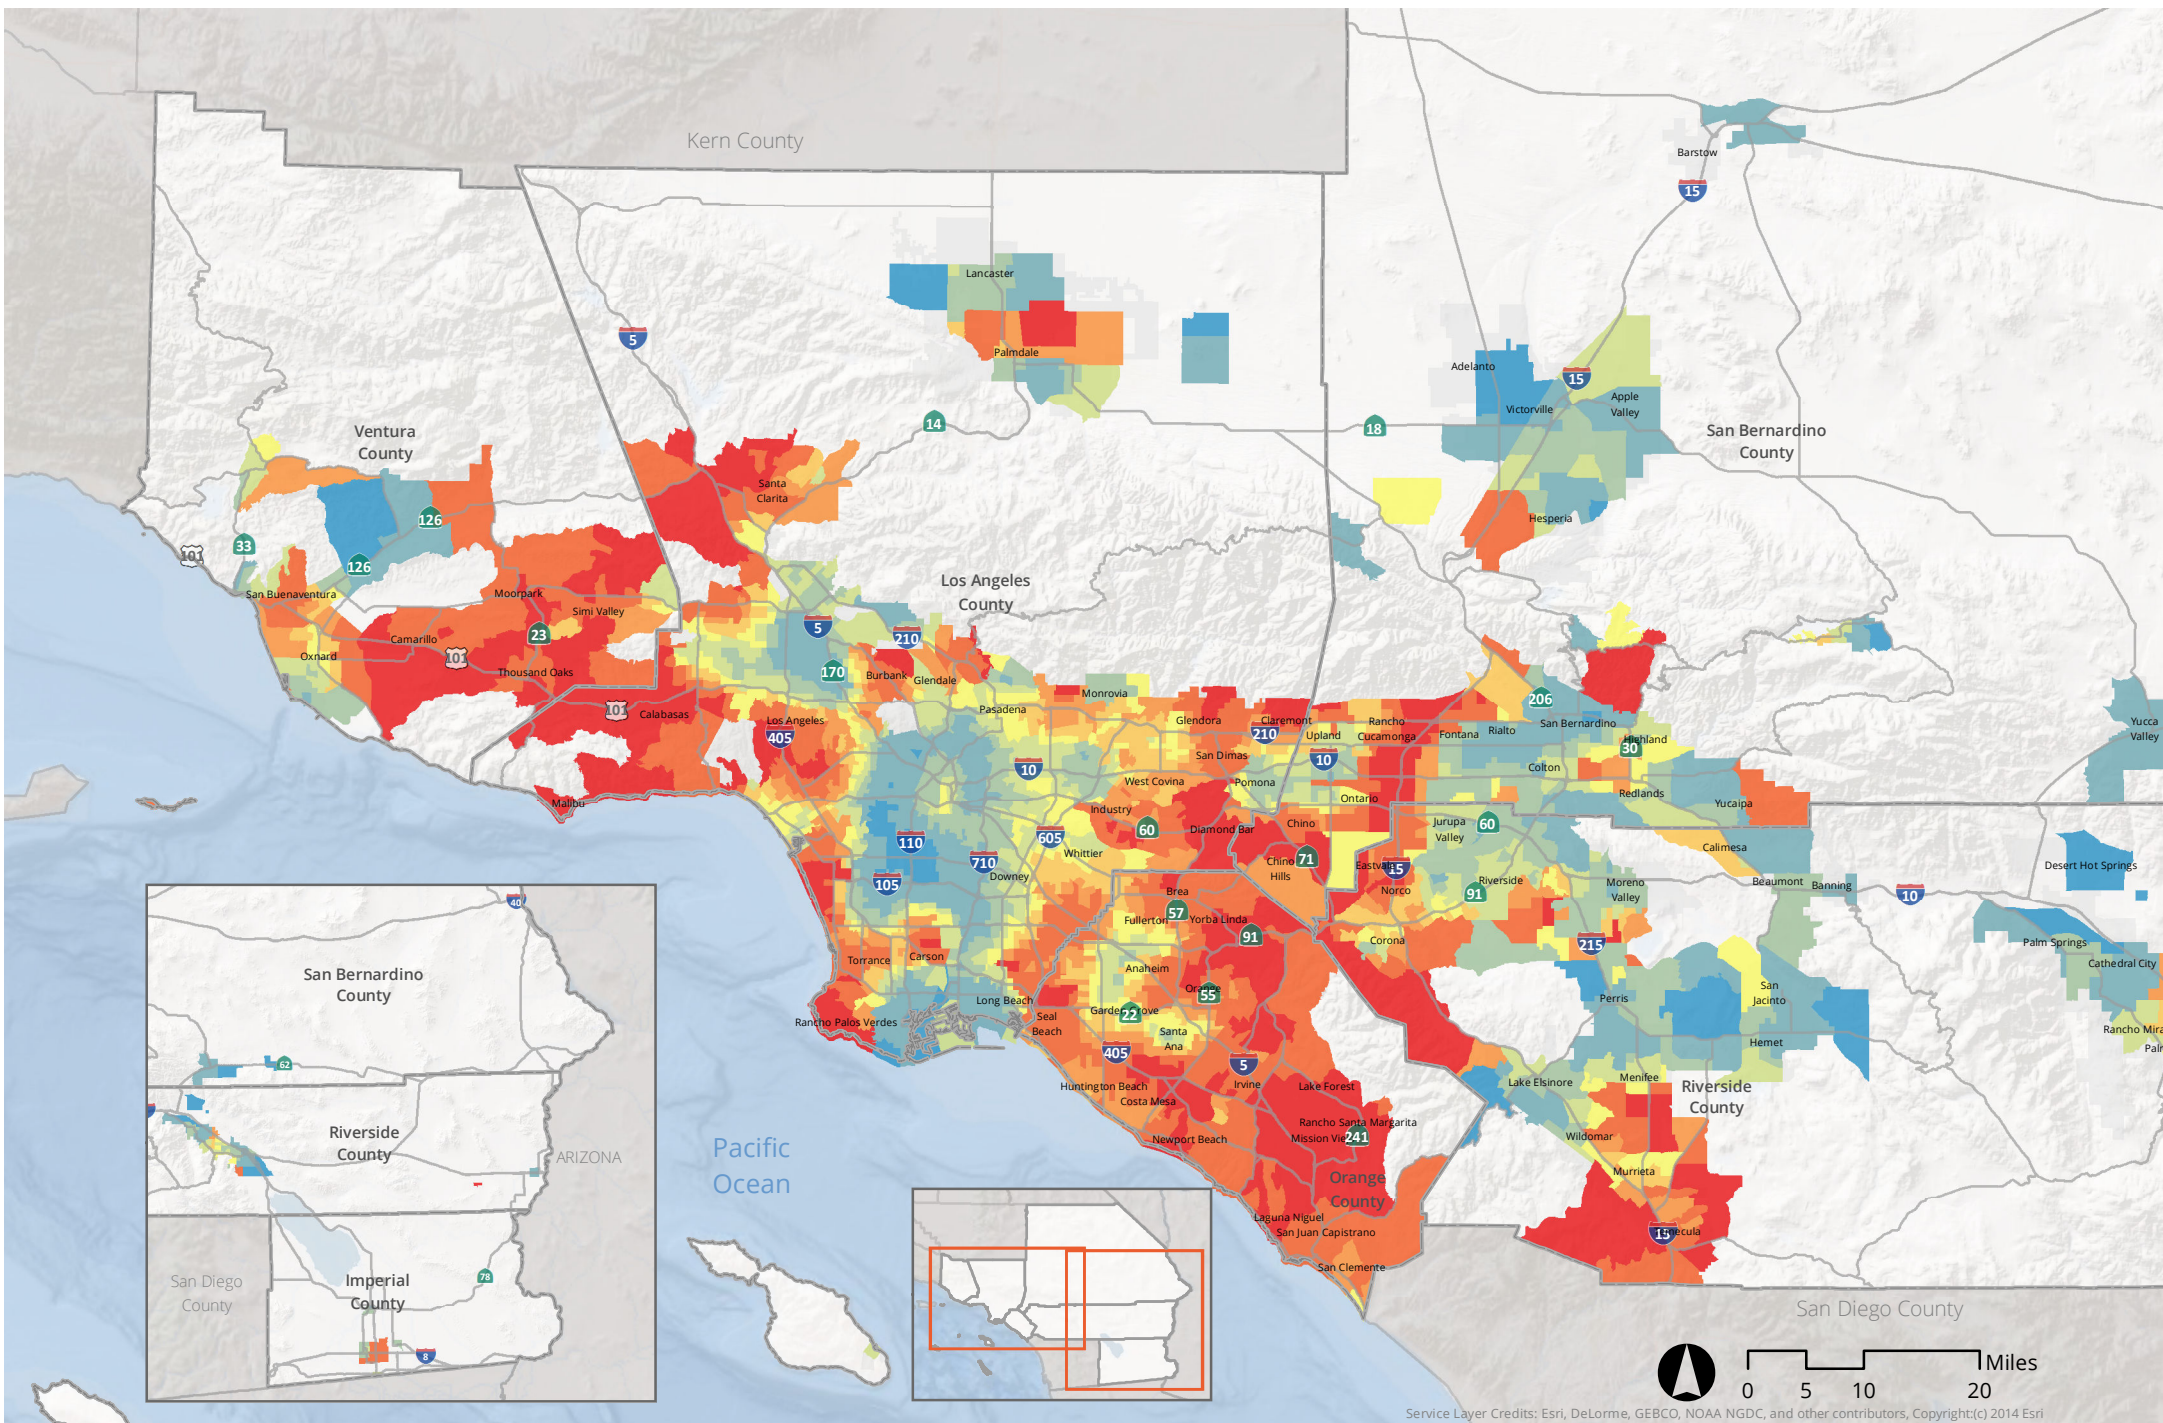

Step 3: Use area-weighted interpolation to determine the residential population within the HQTAs boundaries of each jurisdiction (“HQTASPOP”)

Step 5: Sum the total regional residential population within HQTAs.

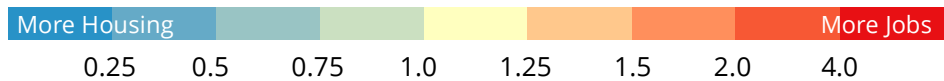

Step 6: Divide each jurisdiction’s HQTAs residential population by the regional population within HQTAs (“SHR_HQTASPOP”). This value is used as the basis for assigning housing need due to transit access.

This methodology also develops a related measure – the percentage of each jurisdiction’s residential population within an HQTAs (“CITY_PCT_HQTASPCT”); however, this measure is not directly used for RHNA allocation.

High Quality Transit Areas (HQTAs; 2045; Final Connect SoCal Plan Data)

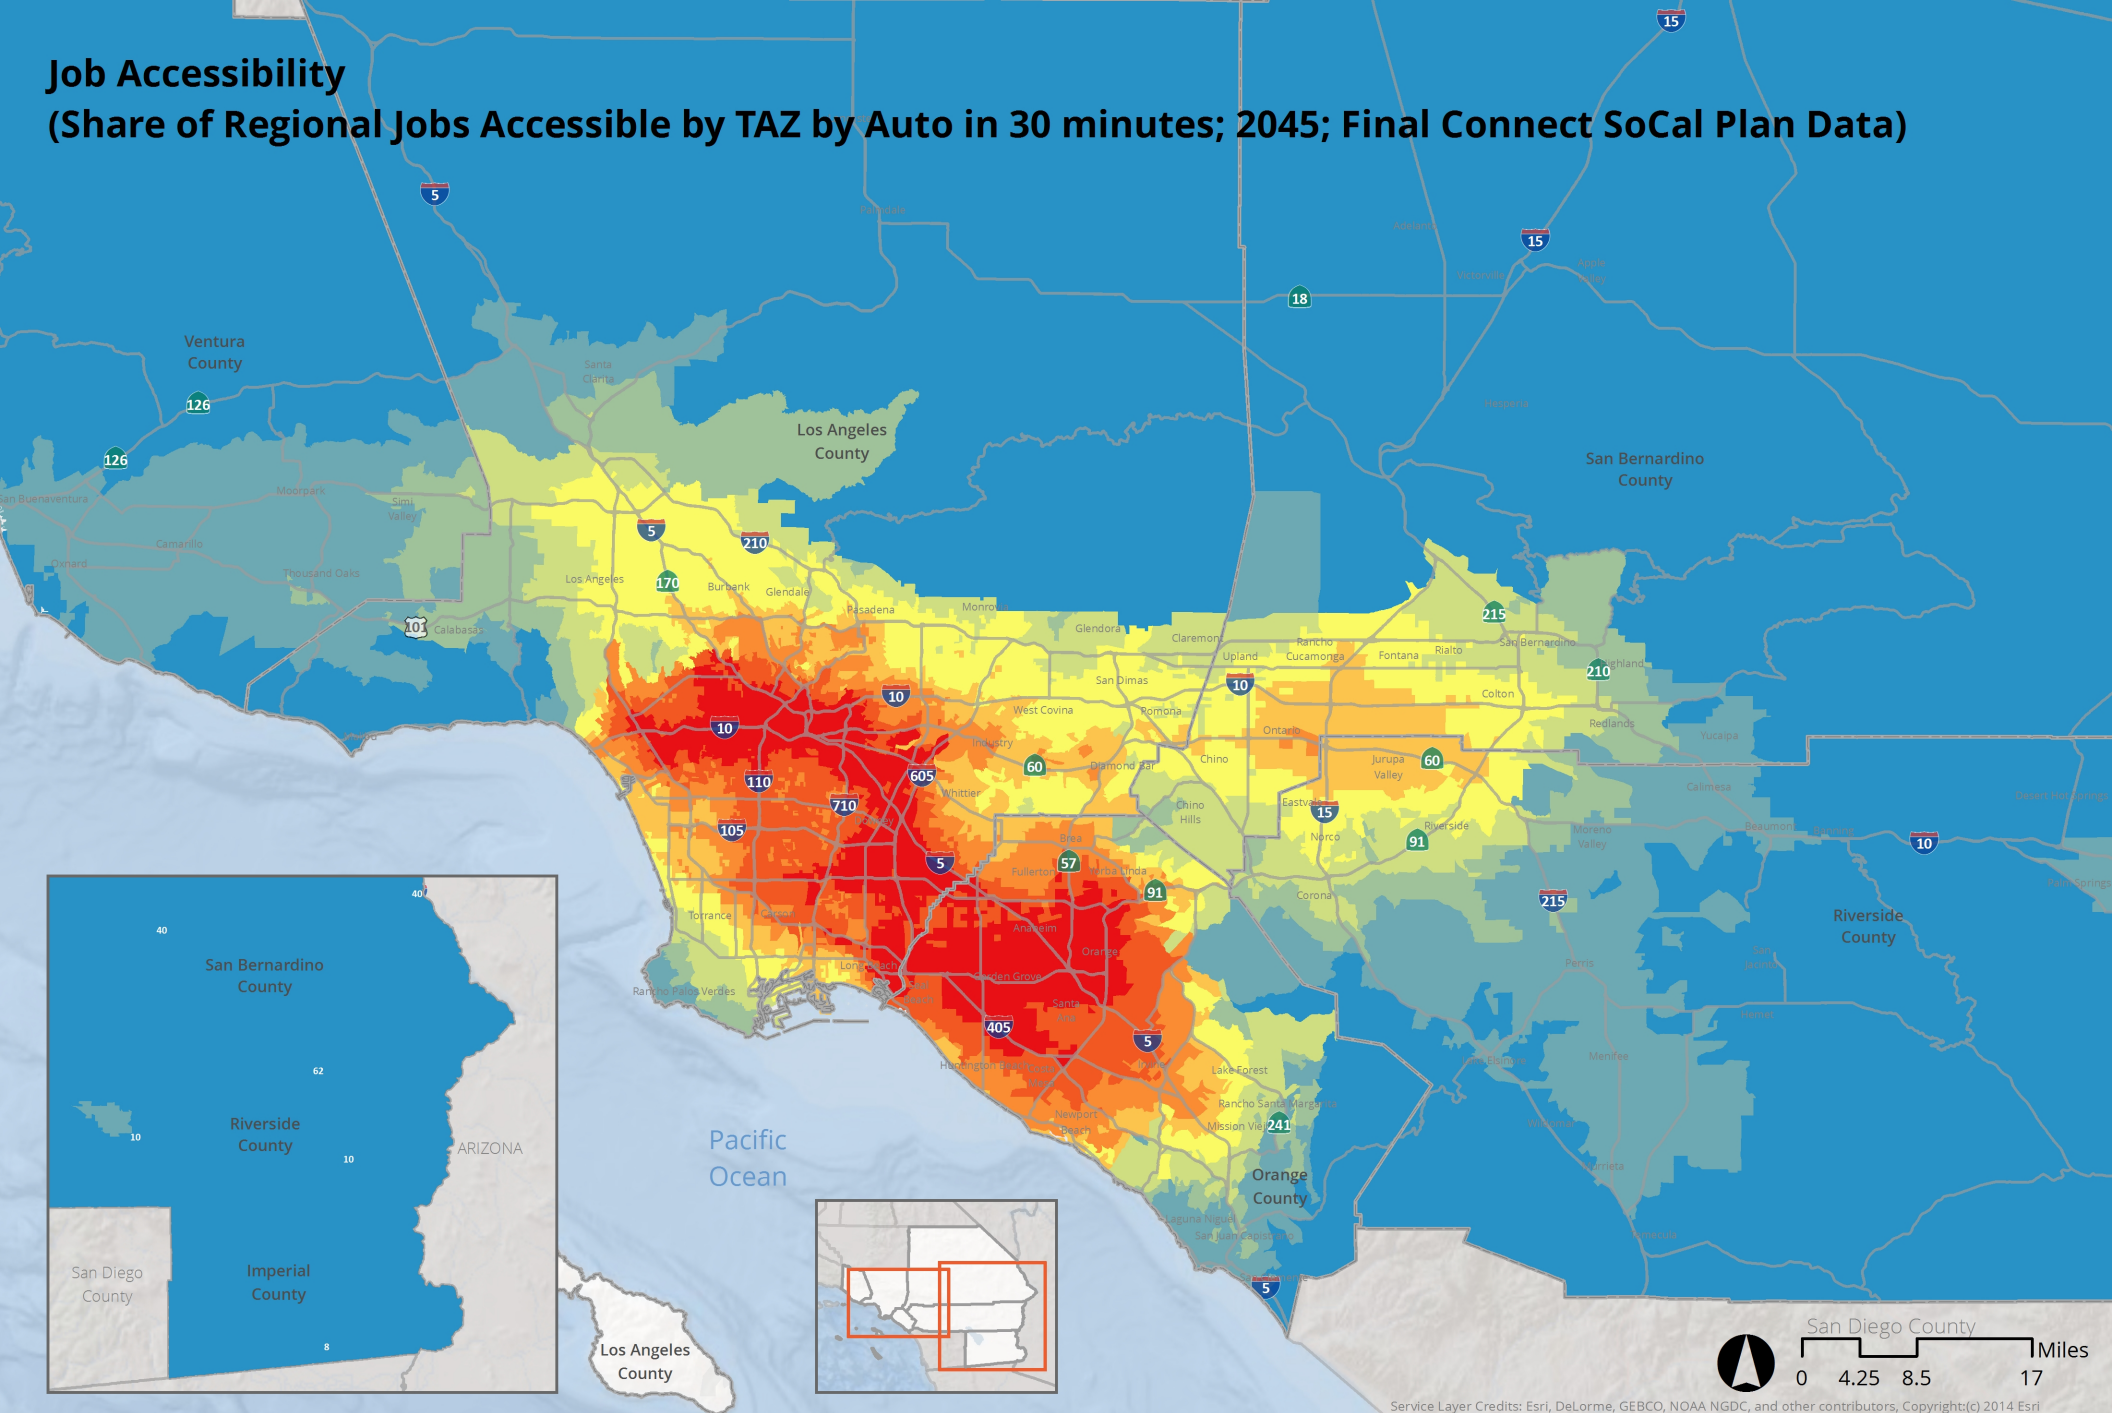

Please note this map depicts the “High Quality Transit Areas (HQTAs)” within the SCAG Region and is based on the planned year transit network for Connect SoCal (the 2020 RTP/SCS) as well as input from County Transportation Commissions. SCAG updates its inventory of planned major transit stops and high quality transit corridors with the adoption of a new RTP/SCS, once every four years. However, transit planning studies may be completed by transit agencies on a more frequent basis than the RTP/SCS is updated by SCAG. Local jurisdictions should consult with the appropriate transit provider(s) to obtain the latest information on planned transit routes, stop locations, and service intervals.
